Hi Ilan,

we have completed our test procedure on one of our endurance test bikes today.

I have demounted and disassembled the filter we have used.

The filter has been on the bike for 20 hours and we have not detected any issues during its use.

When I have disassembled the filter it was clearly visible, that it has done a good job by holding back some small dirt particles.

The test rider has not felt any negative effects during the test run, everything worked out fine.

We hereby can say that we were happy with its function.

The filter worked fine including the change we / you have implemented by changing its shape to avoid failures in combination with our OEM CPC fuel line connector.

I hope this helps!

BR, Alex
